35 Leave Kingston For Army Exams

Draftees to Return Home Tonight; New Group Goes Aug. 17

Local Draft Board 19 of Ulster county today shipped 35 men by bus to Albany for pre-induction examination.

The board had scheduled 70 men for the Albany trip today but several had produced marriage certificates, others were transferred out of the county, and a few failed to appear without reason.

The bus left at 7:40 a. m. today and is due to arrive back in the city at about 7:30 p. m.

Three of the group sent out today were transferred here from Florida and the rest were regularly scheduled county men.

Another group of 35 men is scheduled to leave here Aug. 17 for Albany under jurisdiction of Draft Board 18 which handles registrants in the city.

The examinations are currently given at 448 Pearl street, Albany.

Draft authorities reported the warning again today that draftees who are absent without forwarding an acceptable reason will be subject to full penalty under provisions of the draft law. Their names will be forwarded to the office of the U. S. District Attorney for prosecution.

The board expects that it will hear later by mail from the few who were absent without reason today. It is believed that some of the men have moved from the area and were unable to get here on schedule.

Wants Politics Wiped Out Of Home Front War Plans

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) today demanded "a truce on partisan politics" in dealing with home front mobilization. He did so after two Republican lawmakers assailed the Truman administration's handling of the program.

"I think this is a very poor time for anyone—Democrats or Republicans—to challenge the motives of those who are called upon to make the extremely difficult decisions required," O'Mahoney declared.

"This of all times is a time for a truce on partisan politics, for partisan attacks are wholly uncalled for and only serve to weaken."

Bids Are Due In September On Thruway

The State Thruway Authority today said 32 miles of thruway are now under contract and a public works official indicated that the Saugerties-Kingston section will be ready for bidding next month.

The authority estimates, meanwhile, that it costs about $560,000 a mile to build the super highway and on that basis the strip between Catskill and Saugerties cost more than $4,000,000.

Estimates were based on completion of the first 13 miles of the thruway, the Associated Press said.

Bertram D. Tallamy, head of the state public works department, indicated that the completed sections are "the less expensive," and the $450,000,000 estimate for the 500-mile cross-state highway is based on the expectation that the cost of many other sections will come "far above" the $560,000-a-mile figure.

Tallamy told the annual meeting of the state highway employees association Saturday that the combined cost of the Catskill-Saugerties section and the portion near Victor in the Rochester area of the state was $7,298,871.

The estimate on the 32 miles now under contract is $17,005,777. The sections include the longest to date, near Syracuse and one in the Buffalo area.

Work on the Saugerties-Kingston section should start soon after the advertising for bids next month.

Wool Prices Disturbing Apparel, Carpet Firms

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—soaring wool prices all over the world are giving the jitters to textile men from apparel manufacturers and carpet makers to the wool men themselves.

The increasing cost of raw wool already has resulted in higher prices for floor covering, blankets and many other items. There is every chance of further increases in the offing.

New price records were recorded almost daily during these spring auctions of raw wool in Australia. There is nothing in the wind to indicate this fall's sales will not follow the same price pattern.

At Boston, heart of wool trading in the United States, prices have similarly risen steadily.

Two Local Legion Men Honored by State Associations

Bohan Is Vice Commander, Miller Heads 40 & 8; Buffalo Dentist Commander

The election Friday of Walter J. Miller, local attorney, as grand chief de gare of the state Post 40 and Eight, was followed by the honoring of another Ulster county Legionnaire Saturday at the state American Legion convention in Syracuse.

Thomas Bohan, of Ulster Park, past commander of the Kingston Post, and of the Ulster County American Legion, and currently Chief de Gare of Voltaire, 381, Ulster county Forty and Eight, was elected a vice-commander of the New York State Department, American Legion.

Dr. Joseph R. Hawn, a Buffalo dentist, succeeded Louis E. Drago, of Brooklyn as commander of the legion's New York Department.

Mrs. Harold Taylor, of Minocla, was elected president of the auxiliary to succeed Mrs. James Murray, of East Aurora.

Attorney Miller, who succeeds James H. Merrill, of Syracuse, has served as chief de gare and chief de la porte, grand conductor and grand chef de train.

Bohan is one of five vice-commanders chosen at the election Saturday.

Andrew Murphy, 3rd, of this city, was elected grand grande correspondent of the Forty and Eight, Department of New York.

Democrats Are Hit On Thruway Stand

Jameson, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP) Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley says the opposition of state Democratic leaders to the Buffalo-to-New York city thruway is like what he called the Washington administration's "cheap partisan politics" in the Korean war.

He said the $450,000,000 thruway was a vital defense project.

Hanley continued a scathing tour of the state yesterday in his drive for the Republican nomination to succeed Governor Dewey. He spoke at the annual Chatauqua county Republican picnic in nearby Midway Park.

He said the Democrats want to postpone the 535-mile highway system because it is too expensive, even though, he continued, it will be financed by toll charges.

"The same shortsightedness and mistakes that blundered us into a conflict for which the Washington administration, despite its bluster and its billions, was not prepared, has been evident in the crisis in New York's highways."

"And in both cases, the cause is the same. Willingness to play cheap partisan politics with the public welfare and safety," Hanley said.

Hanley returned to Albany today. He will speak at the Orange county union harvest festival in the village of Florida tomorrow.

To Scale Whitney For Tobacco Heir, Son of Ex-Singer

Companion of Reynolds Is Found Frozen; Two Youths Are Gone a Week

C. S. REYNOLDS
Lone Pine, Calif., Aug. 14 (AP)—

In a last-hope search for tobacco heir Christopher Smith Reynolds, mountain-wise climbers plan today to scale the forbidding east face of the nation's highest peak, Mount Whitney.

The frozen body of his companion, Stephen Rice Wasserman, was found in a snowy crevasse at the 11,500-foot level yesterday, a week after the two 17-year-old easterners had set out to conquer Whitney's toughest side.

Scant hope was held by veteran searchers that young Reynolds is still alive, unless he wandered off for aid for Wasserman. Today's search will be concentrated on higher crevasses of the 14,496-foot peak.

Young Reynolds' mother, formerly torch-singer Libby Holman, was ready to fly from Paris. The boy, heir to a $7,000,000 fortune, was born to Miss Holman shortly after her husband, Zachary Reynolds, was mysteriously slain.

Wasserman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stix Wasserman of Philadelphia and New York, were at nearby Whitney portal when the body of their son was identified. The father, a millionaire broker and economist, had spent most of the day flying over the area.

Trains and Bridge, Other Supplies Blasted by Tiny Tim

Tokyo, Aug. 14 (AP)—The "Tiny Tim," a big new American 11.75-inch rocket, was used yesterday for the first time in real combat. Results were reported good.

Fired from a carrier-based U. S. Navy Corsair fighter plane, one of the armor-piercing rockets knocked out a bridge at Chinju, 90 miles northwest of Taegu, in its first war test, an official announcement from General MacArthur's headquarters said.

Other Corsairs using the Tiny Tim destroyed 13 enemy locomotives, damaged 23 more, blasted eight cars of ammunition, set two fuel-oil trains afire and strafed seven cars loaded with Communist soldiers.

The Tiny Tim is the second new rocket-launched introduced in the Korean war. The first was the 3.5 inch, fired by a two-man team, a loader and a holder-aimer. It is fired only from the ground.

Despite its name, said a navy spokesman, the rocket is "neither tiny nor timid." It has high explosive quality, he said. Apparently it is the most powerful rocket-type weapon carried by plane in combat.

The introduction of the powerful Tiny Tims was the highlight of Sunday's aerial warfare in Korea.

Weather Helps

A timely change from bad to good weather played an important role in the day's air work.

The lucky break in the weather permitted U. S. warplanes to give support to American ground troops launching a counterattack in mud against the massing Reds on the western front.

Just as the ground offensive began at dawn, threatening clouds disappeared and the planes took off in clear skies to blast the North Korean Communists.

At headquarters of the Far East Air Forces, the aerial support was described as "strong and excellent."

U. S. and Australian fighter planes poured rockets and machinegun fire on North Korean troop concentrations in the mud up area around Waegwan, 12 air miles northwest of Taegu.

Other enemy targets were hard hit by the Allied warplanes.

Says Mao Left Peiping

Hong Kong, Aug. 14 (AP)—A Chinese Nationalist report said today Mao Tse-tung, top Chinese Communist, left Peiping Aug. 11 for an undisclosed destination.

A message to the newspaper, Wen Kiu Yat Po from Taipei, Formosa, said Mao left "after receiving cable instructions from Stalin."

Reports received by Nationalists in Formosa said some Communist leaders in Peiping had revealed "Mao probably was heading for Mukden, Manchuria, where he was to hold a conference with a group of Soviet military advisers."

Lake Hopatcong, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP)—35-foot-long motorboat sank in 45 feet of water yesterday after being struck by another craft. Its 18 passengers were rescued by a lake front resident who saw the accident from his porch. Four of the passengers aboard the Bertrand Island, a sightseeing craft operated from the amusement park of the same name, were listed as injured in a report filed by Chief Inspector Harry Tucker of the State Navigation Bureau.

Estimate Is 60,000 Are To Attack

Move Will Celebrate 5th Anniversary Date of Korea's Break From Japan

Tokyo, Tuesday, Aug. 15 (AP)—Thrusting underwater bridges across the Nakdong river, the North Korean Reds probed today for an imminent drive on Taegu by an estimated 60,000 men on this fifth anniversary of Korea's liberation from Japan.

A summary issued early today by General MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters placed the threat near Waegwan, 12 miles northwest of Taegu, main forward American base on the central front of South Korea.

There, it said, the Reds were believed to have completed a second underwater bridge. Such stone and log crossings are sunk about a foot below the surface to escape detection from the air.

Twenty-three miles south of Taegu, the American 24th Infantry Division counterattacked and shoved the Red Fourth Division back 1,600 yards to a mile.

Enemy still moves
MacArthur's summary, however, said the enemy still was moving reinforcements to the river's east bank in that sector southwest of Changnyong.

The greatest threat, however, was around Waegwan, where the Reds were assembling their largest force.

It is believed to be the most effective mass drawn from 15 divisions—150,000 men—the Reds had shoved up to the long, curling battlement. And it greatly outnumbered anything the allies have to oppose them.

A Red attack down the Taegu-Taegu Mountain Valley Corridor was expected momentarily. Tuesday is the fifth anniversary of the liberation of Korea from Japan.

Such anniversaries are likely occasions in Oriental reckoning for demonstrations of strength.

As the Red thousands assembled west of the Nakdong river, American troops recaptured muddy slopes on the Allied eastern side of the stream from some of the 12,000 Reds who crossed the river at Changnyong, 23 miles south of Taegu.

Try for Eight Days
The Communists have been trying to break out from their Nakdong river-crossing bulge for eight days. Their objective is Pusan, the Korean port in the south-east 55 miles from Taegu.

The U. S. 24th division, moving up behind 45-ton Pershing tanks, attacked the river-crossers at dawn Monday. They shoved the North Koreans back from 1,000 yards to a mile along a flaming eastern bank of the river.

Ask Revoking of Bail on 11 Reds Called U. S. Menaces

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—The government has asked a Federal court to revoke the bail of the 11 convicted top U. S. Communist leaders and send them to jail as menaces to the nation's security.

The defendants must show cause here next Thursday why the government's motion should not be granted.

Attorney General J. Howard McGrath announced yesterday that the request was based on a Department of Justice affidavit which alleged that:

"There does not exist any substantial question as to the judgment of conviction... and the defendants have pursued and will continue to pursue a course of conduct and activity dangerous to the public welfare, safety and National Security of the United States."

The Communist leaders have been sentenced to prison terms and fines for conspiring to advan-

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE.

MIDTOWN MUSINGS

The most depressing chore in show business is to look at a hundred girls who have answered a chorus call and say, "Sorry, you're not the type," to ninety of them. The ladies know they're being screened for the thing they prize most—eye-appeal—and a turn-down busts them right in the heart and ego. Which is why, in recent years, I've stayed away from my own chorus calls until an assistant has narrowed the applicants down to the noblest. . . .

There's a feminine quirk. I've never been able to understand a woman's image of herself usually differs from the evidence in her mirror. . . . Take, for instance, what happened the other day when I advertised for showgirls who are six feet tall. . . . According to Director John Murray Anderson who interviewed them for me, two-thirds of the girls who showed up were five-foot-three—bunching where they should be denied and sagging where they should be upply. . . . Anderson reported that a couple of them even sported little mustaches.

To be completely objective about it, of course, the male of the species is also inclined to give himself the best of it. . . . If you doubt it, let a woman walk into a room full of men and say, "Hello, tall, dark and handsome," and watch the pot-bellied runts get to their feet with a "Who, me?" expression on their faces. . . .

Another depressing show-business chore is answering the people who want advice on how to get started in the song-writing game. . . . If you want to be honest about it, you've got to tell them that their chances of making a go of it are considerably less than their chances of getting elected to Congress.

Twenty-five years ago, when I was writing songs for a living, a fellow could walk into a music publisher's office and at least get a disrespectful hearing. . . . Today, unless he has an introduction to White House stationery, it's almost impossible to get past the receptionist. . . .

Hope to See Miracle

Necedah, Wis., Aug. 14 (AP)—This tiny community was beginning to fill up today with people from many states who hoped to see a miracle Tuesday. Their hopes centered on a grove of trees on a farm near here where Mrs. Anna Van Hoof, 40-year-old mother of seven children, said she would have her seventh vision of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Despite efforts by Roman Catholic dignitaries to discourage a large turnout, between 50,000 and 100,000 persons were expected to jam the Van Hoof farm grounds at the appointed time—high noon Tuesday.

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—A coast guard board of inquiry says the "most probable cause" of last May's munitions blast at South Amboy, N. J., was the accidental detonation of anti-tank mines. State Volunteer Firemen Gather for Convention

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—Delegates from 1,700 volunteer fire departments gathered today for the 78th annual convention of the New York State Volunteer Firemen's Association.

One water fight already had broken out.

Motorists and pedestrians were doused last night when a group of firemen hooked a hose line to a downtown hydrant and ambushed the truck of another department on South Salina street.

Police halted the outbreak.

Authorities declined to identify the firemen involved. It was reported unofficially that they represented two Long Island companies and one from the Syracuse area.

Officers of the association were to meet in executive session today.

To Wage Opposition

Bogota, Colombia, Aug. 14 (AP)—Colombia's Liberal party has decided to wage a campaign of "civil opposition" to newly inaugurated Conservative President Laureano Gomez Castro. In a 13-hour session Saturday, the Liberals who held a congressional majority decided against recognizing the legality of Gomez's regime and adopted a policy of "non-collaboration."

Tips on What To Do If A-Bomb Hits Area

BY FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer
Washington, Aug. 14 (AP)—Five years after the explosion of the first atomic bomb, the government has come out with some specific instructions on what to do if one hits your city.

They are contained in a big book "the effects of atomic weapons" released over the week-end by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Much of the book is technical—pretty rough going for all but a trained technician—but it has some down-to-earth sections on what a citizen should do in the event of an explosion. It also has recommendations for combating contamination of personnel, homes and other areas by radioactive materials.

Here are some tips you might do well to memorize:

The first thing to remember is that if a bomb goes off, there will be a sudden increase in general illumination. The burst will be about 100 times as bright as the sun.

Don't worry about recognizing it. One A.E.C. official in discussing an atomic explosion, told reporters: "If you are not dead already, you will recognize it when it has gone off."

Drop to Ground

But don't follow your natural instincts to look toward the source of the light. Go into action right away, as follows:

If you're caught in the open, with no shelter of any kind within a step or two, drop instantly to the ground, and curl up so as to shade your bare arms, hands, neck and face. And hold that position for at least ten seconds.

This will not protect you from atomic "rays"—if they reach your area but it may save you from a disabling burn from the bomb's tremendous heat, which radiates out over a considerable area.

If you are within a step or two of a building corner, a doorway, a tree—or even a trench-like hole in the ground—leap there and take shelter, with your back to the light. And assume that curled-up position.

(A.E.C. officials said that a soldier in a foxhole 1500 yards from a bomb burst would be well protected from blast, heat and radiation effects of an atomic explosion.)

Lasts 10 Seconds

After ten seconds you can stand up, because the immediate peril from heat and atomic rays will have passed in that time.

But keep your body pressed tightly against the side of a building to avoid broken glass or falling debris, which can result from the explosion's blast effects.

If you are inside a house or other building when the bomb goes off, do this:

Drop to the floor, with your back to the window. Crawl behind or beneath a table, desk, counter, or other shelter. The closer you are to the interior partitions of the building, the better off you are. They are relatively effective in resisting the blast effects.

The book offers some general suggestions about strengthening the construction of buildings to resist the blast—but they all boil down to the conclusion that in general structures designed to resist earthquakes are the best.

Bursting in Air

The 456 page volume gives the down-down on the known or possible effects of A-bombs bursting in the air, on and beneath the ground, and at shallow and deep depths beneath the sea. It reaches the conclusion that the air-burst type is the most widely destructive.

Without mentioning the hydrogen bomb, it pointed out that the damaging effects are increased as the energy of any atomic bomb goes up—although not in direct proportion. But it said that "fears are groundless" that atomic explosions could never contaminate the whole world with radioactivity.

It also discussed the pros and cons of "radiological warfare"—the possible use of radioactive poisons as a weapon distinct from either the A-bomb or the H-bomb—but indicated that studies on this subject are still inconclusive.

Chance of Recovery

He told of medical measures designed to treat atomic casualties.

Medical experts declared that people who survive the initial blast and its immediate effects have a good chance of recovery even though injured. The measures are standard practices utilized for the treatment of burns and other injuries.

Officials said there is no specific treatment against "radiation sickness" but that drugs like aureomycin and penicillin offer much promise of combating secondary infections that can accompany it.

The book also outlined methods for combating the contamination of people, houses, city streets, water supplies and other things with radioactive materials resulting directly or indirectly from an atomic explosion.

Here are highlights:

1. If you think that radioactive dirt or other particles have been deposited on your skin, rub vigorously with soap and water. In a dire emergency, such things as paper, straw, grass, leaves or sand will remove radioactive substances from the skin if applied with vigor. Any materials used, though, must later be disposed of—such as by burial—because they will be radioactive.

(In an area heavily contaminated by radioactivity, people would have to leave until the radiations had subsided to a safe level. However, they might also come and go for periods limited so as not to get an overdose of radiation.)

2. If paved streets are contaminated, flushing with water—perhaps with the aid of strong detergents, street cleaning, or vacuum sweeping—might be the first steps.

3. Contaminated soil on parks and lawns might be dealt with by turning the soil over.

Covered Foods Protected

4. Properly covered foods, canned goods or any materials in dustproof wrappings should undergo little or no contamination. But there seems to be no feasible means for salvaging unprotected food.

5. Certain procedures commonly used for the purification of water supplies should aid in decreasing contamination. In case of doubt, outright distillation of suspected water should make it fit to drink. That was found true at Bikini, site of A-bomb tests. But note: Mere boiling of water is of no value.

6. Plastic paints and other easy-to-remove coverings offer means of protecting surfaces from contamination. The materials removed would then have to be disposed of.

Court in New York, alone, and licked Dubinsky and his high-priced lawyers and made them hand over some money which the union had withheld. But Jacobs gave her the brush-off and that convinced me that he wasn't interested in protecting the so-called little people.

During this kangaroo court, you might have thought that I was on trial. A fat guy got up and I was asked whether he had ever served me with a congressional subpoena and I had ignored it. The fat guy didn't say a word.

I had never seen him before and he had never given me a subpoena. But the smear was there just the same.

Now, I am not whining. I can take care of myself. But the New York Herald-Examiner and the Times, too, apart from the Washington Post, get hysterics at the horror of it all when some fellow who has given reason for suspicion gets called a Communist or a fellow-traveler. The Post, which thought poor Alger Hiss, with his double-domed Frankfurter education, was "confused" by communism, has come out with an indirect appeal for contributions to Lettinese. The Post didn't see anything wrong in my case although the fact was plain that a congressional committee of union-busters were acting as a gestapo to extort information against innocent citizens.

The Post didn't appeal for money for Hester McCullough, of Greenwich, Conn., when she was being torn apart in an expensive law suit. What's the matter with Hester McCullough? Would she command the Post's sympathy if she were "confused" and belonged to a few fronts and messed around with Communist traitors?

I want to see some evidence that all this indignation is pure solicitude for the constitutional guarantees. The best evidence of that would be a clamor of equal emotional oaths the next time some patriotic anti-Communist gets into a jam. I never have come across a case in which a fellow charged with communism or being around with Communists didn't knowingly invite the charge by his own conduct and associations.

Sanitary Engineers Start Defense Course

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—Sanitary engineers in the State Health Department will start a three-day course here Aug. 21 on defense against atomic attack. The course is part of the state's developing program to prepare for a possible sneak attack.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner, announced yesterday that the courses would cover the problems of safeguarding public water, food and milk supplies in the event of an atomic explosion. It also will include methods of providing emergency supplies for evacuees of a bombed area.

How mild can a cigarette be? SMOKE CAMELS AND SEE!

More People Smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

OPERA STAR MAKES OWN TEST

MARGUERITE PIAZZA, dark-eyed beauty of the opera, joins many of her admirers in echoing the praises of Camel mildness. Says Miss Piazza, "Of all the tests, the Camel 30-Day Mildness Test convinced me! Camels agree with my throat and they taste grand."

Smokers Prove Camel Mildness for Themselves—Make 30-Day Test in Their Own "T-Zones"!!
(T for Throat, T for Taste)

EVERY DAY, more and more smokers are discovering for themselves just how mild a cigarette can be! They're making their own Camel 30-Day Mildness Tests—smoking Camels regularly for 30 days.

This is the sensible test. It does not rely on tricks or short cuts. No snap judgments based on one puff or one sniff. Instead, you, the smoker, test Camels on a regular, pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. You judge Camel mildness and the flavor of Camel's choice tobaccos in your own "T-Zone"—the best possible proving ground for a cigarette. See if the Camel 30-Day Test doesn't give you the most enjoyment you've ever had from smoking.

Redbird Hurler Gets the Pitch

HOWARD POLLAT, veteran southpaw pitching star of the St. Louis Cardinals, had this to say about Camel mildness: "The throat specialists' findings in the 30-Day Test don't surprise me. I've smoked Camels for many years. I know they're mild. Camels don't tire my taste and they're just right for my throat!"

NOTED THROAT SPECIALISTS REPORT ON 30-DAY TEST OF CAMEL SMOKERS:

Not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels

Hundreds of men and women were in this coast-to-coast test. For 30 days, they smoked Camels—and only Camels. Each week, noted throat specialists examined their throats—2,470 examinations in all—with the above findings!

Make your own 30-Day Camel MILDNESS Test in your "T-Zone"

That's T for Throat, T for Taste. See if you don't change to Camels for keeps!

MORE DOCTORS SMOKE CAMELS than any other cigarette

This fact was disclosed in a nationwide survey, made of doctors in every branch of medicine and in every State in the Union. 113,597 doctors were asked this question: "What cigarette do you smoke, Doctor?" The brand named most was Camel!

ON CORRECT USE OF CANDLES

A reader explains, "I'm in charge of the arrangements for serving breakfast and lunch to a group of 20 people. They will be visiting churchmen and are being fed by a committee of the ladies at our church. I've been told that it never is correct to use candles on a table except in the evening, but I notice in a leading magazine that a picture of a correctly set lunch table includes candles. The picture has confused me."

If the room was without windows and candles therefore necessary for light it would have been permissible to use them. But even so candles are not "correct" on a lunch table. They are essential to the beauty of a supper table and also an evening dinner table as well as on the dining table at a reception or formal afternoon tea.

Answering An Invitation

Dear Mrs. Post: Several weeks ago I received an informal invitation from someone I hardly know to a shower for a mutual friend. I couldn't go and sent my regrets written across my visiting card this way: "Regrets for June 6th. I did send a present. I understand and been criticized for sending such stuff. Sorry. What was wrong with it?"

Answer: I'm sorry to have to answer that your reply was very brusque. It would have been more pleasing to have said, "So sorry, unable to come" or "Regret, unable to be with you."

Showing New House
Dear Mrs. Post: I recently stopped in to see a cousin who had just moved into a new house. What I saw of it looked lovely and apparently all was in order. I am not close to this cousin and didn't like asking her to let me see the rest of the house. Shouldn't such a suggestion come from the hostess?

Answer: If you told her of your enthusiasm about what you did see of the house, I am surprised she did not ask you if you would like to see the rest of it, or at least say something about its being not yet quite in order and wanting you to wait to see it when completed.

Tulsa Tussle Gives
Lesson in Bidding

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"This hand," writes a Tulsa correspondent, started a bad argument that almost disrupted our little group of players. We hope you will be able to settle it once and for all.

"As you can see, South did much too well at his contract of two clubs. West opened the king of hearts and then shifted to a trump. South drew trumps, discarded the rest of his hearts on dummy's spades, and then gave up the ace of diamonds. He therefore made eleven tricks."

"Of course he would not have made a game at clubs if he had bid it. West could have taken two top tricks in hearts and one in diamonds. However, there was an ice-cold game in spades just waiting to be bid and ready to fall into the North-South laps."

"South says his bid of two clubs was a temporizing bid. If North could bid again South would not bid again. South felt that two clubs might be the best contract. He certainly did not expect the bidding to end as abruptly as it did."

"North claims that South should have raised the spades immediately. There was no need to show the clubs at all, in his view. If South had raised spades he would have bid again. South's failure to raise spades indicated a possible misfit, and North felt he should get out of the bidding while the getting was good."

"Who is correct, and how would experts bid this sort of hand?" North is 100 per cent correct. There was absolutely no need for South to show his clubs. They would be a delightful surprise to North whenever South put them down on the table as the dummy."

When a player makes an opening bid he is often compelled to mention a weak four-card suit. For this reason, a good partner will avoid raising that suit with less than four-card support until he has reason to believe that the original bidder has a fairly strong suit.

When a player makes an overcall, the situation is entirely different. He does not make an overcall in a weak four-card suit. Almost invariably he has a strong suit of five or more cards. Once in a blue moon he has a four-card suit, but even then the suit is quite strong in top cards and there is compensating strength on the side. For this reason, the over-caller's partner need not hesitate to raise enthusiastically even with only three trumps.

South should have raised to three spades to remove all doubt from his partner's mind. Thus encouraged, North would have gone on to four spades. This game contract would be made without any trouble, since North can lose only two hearts and one diamond.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

Elwyn Escapes Injury
In Madrid Explosion

Woodstock, Aug. 14—Robert Elwyn, formerly of the Woodstock Playhouse, who left for Spain early this summer, has written his mother, Mrs. Norman Elwyn of Woodstock, that he had narrowly escaped injury August 1 in Madrid when an explosion wrecked the building in which he had been conducting screen tests for the picture which he is directing, "That Man From Tangiers."

The explosion was caused by film igniting in the building. Elwyn was delayed in going to the Madrid Laboratories where the tests were to be held, by 18 minutes owing to a telephone call. He reports that future laboratory work will have to be flown in from Barcelona, the next nearest point to Madrid, where such work may be conducted.

"That Man From Tangiers" is the motion picture for which Sharmou Douglas, daughter of America's ambassador to Britain, Lewis W. Douglas, will take a screen test. The forthcoming screen test of Miss Douglas was recently announced by Larry Corcoran, producer of the picture.

A mellifluous addition to the program, Boccherini's Concerto for Flute, as played by Christiane Nazzari, was a pure musical delight. The orchestra contributed the Concerto Grosso in F by Handel, Bartok's Roumanian Dances and the St. Paul's Suite by Holst, all of which combined to make an evening of fine listening.

The last concert, featuring American composer's night, will be given at the Town House Saturday, August 26, at 9 p. m. The first performance of Elie Siegmeister's "Soliloquy" will be given as well as Cowell's "Hymn and Fuguing Tune," Copeland's "Two Pieces" with Christiane Nazzari, flutist.

City League All Stars Edge Paterson - Colonial Tossers, 13 to 12

Ace Play By Schatzel Saves Game in Ninth

If the Paterson-Colonial tossers were looking for a pushover Saturday night at municipal stadium, they got a helluva shock before the three-hour marathon ended, 13 to 12, in favor of the City League All Stars.

The fact that the score was as close as that was a tribute to tenacity of the New Jerseyites rather than to any great brilliance they flashed on the diamond.

Instead of pushovers they found buzzsaws and throughout the long night they had to drag themselves off the ground time and again trying to keep pace with Manager Joe Hoffman's two stars.

Schatzel Is Hero

The game ended on a dramatic note with first baseman, Johnny Schatzel, throwing out the tying run at the plate for the final out.

The situation briefly was this: Runners on second and third and two out, the score 13-11 in favor of the All Stars. Jack Watzka, who relieved starter Tommy Fisher with none out in the eighth, came swooping off the mound to grab pinchhitter Dolan's twisting, squirming "swinging bunt" down the first base line. He stabbed for it frantically. Finally collared it but threw low to first base. The 11th run scampered across the plate and the 13th headed for pay dirt as Schatzel, flat on his back, reached over, grabbed the errant pill and fired to George Zadany at the plate. Gerber, who represented the tying run was snuffed out on a bang-bang-play.

Such was the story of the uphill climb by the red faced Jersey tossers who were out of the running until that last ditch play.

Daily Flivver

The contest spawned many heroes for the City League Stars despite the notation of eight miscues in the boxscore. Manager Joe Hoffman started five-ninths of the Jones Dairy squad and stayed with all of them except Fisher, who got the hook after yielding an eighth inning single.

Bud Schaeffs bases-loaded single and a double by Mike Rlenzo accounted for a four-run outburst for the two stars and they were never headed.

Starter Neal Wade, who looked great two weeks ago against the Mount Vernon Red Sox, got bumped hard in a three inning stint and amateurish fielding behind him didn't help the Colonial cause. The losers twice played hunk into errors and Bud Schaeffs' pop fly in the third left un-molested as two runners crossed the plate.

Six Run Rally

Jerry Dolan, the Colonial reliever, checked the All Stars in the fourth and fifth innings, while the home club pulled to within 7-6. Then the roof fell in as twelve hit batters went to the plate and six scored.

Zadany, Fisher and Maines stroked singles, Mike Rlenzo got his second double and two hit batsmen, two walks and a miscue completed the carnage.

Bob Ivanicki got a bases-loaded triple in the seventh for Paterson when Bud Schaeff missed a shoestring try on his liner to left field to highlight a four-run uprising.

Although Fisher was lathered freely, Manager Hoffman kept him on the firing line until Gerber opened the eighth with a sharp single to right center. Then Big Jack Watzka came on to snuff out the threat. An error, a couple of wild pitches, one coming on a third strike, got him into a jam and set the stage for White's trickler and Schatzel's great recovery and throw to the plate.

SIDELINERS: Attendance was 537, a disappointing figure.

Johnny Schatzel was on base five times with three hits, a walk and a sacrifice. Tommy Carlinio was charged with three errors but still found time to unload a couple of the prettiest fielding plays of the game. Schatzel's backhand stab of Bob Ivanicki's torrid grounder in the third was one of the gems of the night.

Paterson ninth center, Ted White, the ball game, they lost a Saturday night spot. From here on out the All Stars will represent Kingston, probably next Saturday night against the House of David.

Major League Roundup

By JOE REICHLER (Associated Press Sports Writer)

James T. Hearn, an unheeded rightshander from Atlanta, Ga., is the top candidate for the baseball bargain of the year honors.

Just two months ago, the St. Louis Cardinals gave up on Big Jim. They sold him to the New York Giants for the lowly waiver price of $10,000 after he failed to win a game. Today, it is doubtful if they could buy him back for ten times that amount.

Since joining the Giants July 14, Hearn has made six starts and New York has won five of them, including a 2-0 decision over the Philadelphia Phils yesterday.

Hearn may not hurl the Giants to a flag, but his performance against the National League leading Phils yesterday couldn't be improved upon. He allowed the hard-hitting Phils only four hits, walked one and struck out three.

John Johnson was the loser. Wes Whitburn and Don Mueller knocked in the runs.

The victory gave the Giants an even break in their four-game series with the pacemakers, and a record of 19 wins in their last 23 games.

Despite the loss, the Phils remained five games in front of the second place Boston Braves, who took an 8-2 cuffing from the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Cincinnati Reds dropped the Cards into fourth place as Lefty Kohn Raffensberger whipped them, 3-2. The Reds helped themselves to sixth place with assistance from the Pittsburgh Pirates who swept both ends of a double-header from the Cubs, 7-4 and 2-0.

The front-running Detroit Tigers discovered a new way to gain ground in the American League race. While they sat idle because of wet grounds in St. Louis, the Bengals saw their hold on first place become a bit more secure as the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox lost while the Cleveland Indians divided a double-header.

A four-hit batting performance by outfielder Paul Lehner and a four-hit pitching effort by Southpaw Lou Brissie enabled the Philadelphia Athletics to vanquish the Yankees, 5-2. Vic Raschi was the loser.

Rookie Al Sima, with the help of reliever Mickey Harris in the eighth, pitched the Washington Senators to a 6-5 victory over the Red Sox. Third baseman, Eddie Yost drove in a pair of runs with a single and double and scored twice for the victors.

Sparked by Manager Lou Boudreau's pinch single and Larry Doby's two-run triple, the Indians came from behind to win the opener, 5-2, with a five-run eighth inning. The White Sox tapped starter Bob Work for five runs in the first inning to win the second game, 7-5. Catcher Gus Niarhos's double with the bases loaded cleared the sacks. Ray Scarborough was the winner. Bob Feller won his 11th for the Tribe in the opener.

Detroit, which faces Cleveland in the only American League game tonight, is sitting comfortably with three and a half game leads over the Indians and Yankees. The Yanks hold a one-point edge over the Tribe. The Red Sox are eight games off the pace.

Dr. Palica pitched the Dodgers to a two-percentage point margin over the Cards for third place. Peeewe Reese, Carl Furillo and Palica each clubbed three hits off loser Bob Chapman.

Bobby Adams hit four for four and drove in two runs and scored the other in the Reds' victory over St. Louis. Alpha Brazie was the loser.

Ralph Kiner slammed his 32nd homer of the year and 200th of his career to help Cliff Chambers gain his ninth win for Pittsburgh. Mel Queen fanned 11 Cubs and held them to five hits and no runs in giving the Pirates a clean sweep.

Frick To Discuss Stanky Maneuver

New York, Aug. 13 (AP)—New York Giant Manager Leo Durocher was summoned to a conference in National League President Ford Frick's office today—presumably to talk over the "Stanky maneuver."

The "Stanky maneuver"—which incidentally, did the Giants little good—was calculated by New York second-baseman Eddie Stanky to bother opposing batters. It was simple. He merely jumped up and down and waved his arms while the pitcher was about to throw. This, it was figured, would throw the batter off balance.

It's all in the past, though, for Frick has ruled the strategem out even though Stanky got bounced out of Saturday's game with the Philadelphia Phils in the process.

It all started quite by accident last Tuesday in a game with the Boston Braves when Phil Elliott mentioned to Umpire Al Barlick to get out of his line of vision. Noticing this, Stanky promptly took over the spot vacated by Barlick and began his gesticulating.

Saturday, Stanky employed the same tactics against Andy Seminick, the Phils' catcher. The umpires, asked Durocher to make Stanky cease and desist until they could get an official ruling from Frick. This Durocher did until Seminick slid into Giant third baseman Hank Thompson, knocking the latter out. Durocher promptly called off the truce and Stanky was just as promptly thrown out. The Giants lost the game, 5-4 and Durocher protested the contest.

Arrange 20 Classes For Rhinebeck Show

Approximately 20 classes have been arranged for the one-day Rhinebeck horse show which will be held in conjunction with the Dutchess County Fair, Aug. 28-Sept. 2. The fair horse show is scheduled for Sept. 1.

Malcolm R. Grahame, co-chairman of the show with Homer E. Gray, said classes include light, middle and heavyweight working hunters, open working hunters, hunter hacks, handy hunters, road hacks, three-gaited saddle horses, knock down and out, open jumping and various horsemanship events.

The show will open at 9 a. m. and continue throughout the day. Mr. Grahame said the local horse show will be coordinated with the pony show, scheduled for Thursday (Aug. 31) at the fairgrounds.

Mrs. Deborah Dows is pony show superintendent.

Trophies will be awarded to winners in major classes, Mr. Grahame said.

Entries will include many horses and riders from the Rondout and Millbrook Hunt clubs.

Soap Box Derby To Virginia Lad

Akron, O., Aug. 14 (AP)—A lanky 15-year-old youngster from Charleston, W. Va., who carried a Sunday school testament as a good luck charm, is the nation's new soap box derby champion.

Harold D. Williamson calmly steered his streamlined black racer to victory yesterday to win the 13th derby race before a crowd of 50,000.

A straight "A" student, the freckled youth will receive a $5,000 four-year scholarship for taking the All-American event sponsored by Chevrolet and a host of newspapers. Williamson represented the Charleston, W. Va. Gazette.

Heat winners in the 13th annual soap box derby included:

First Round

1. Harold Switzer, Hagerstown, Md. 2. Gerald L. Taylor, Juneau Alaska 3. Richard Lange, White Plains, N. Y. Time 28.03 seconds

1. Mario Rabinowitz, Vancouver, Wash. 2. Richard K. Allee, Port Jervis, N. Y. 3. David Lee Flynn, Bedford, Ind. Time 27.90 seconds.

Second Round

1. Everett Custer, Roanoke, Va. 2. Dickie Adams, Atlanta, Ga. 3. James Dutcher, Hudson, N. Y. Time 27.76 seconds

Australian Davis Cup Squad Edges Sweden, 3-2, To Gain Final Round

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—The Australian Davis Cuppers are in the challenge round again, but there might be a big overhaul in their line-up before they face the United States in the main event August 23-27 at Forest Hills, N. Y.

The narrow scrape convinced most of the assembled experts that Captain Harry Hopman of the down under forces will be wise to substitute the 20-year-old "baby" of his team, Ken McGregor, for Bromwich in the challenge round singles.

Bromwich was so tired that his first service was a set-up for Leonard Bergelin, the Swedish ace, in the closing stages of their match yesterday. Bergelin broke down the veteran's delivery four straight times as he ran out the victory by scores of 6-3, 6-2, 1-6, 7-9, 6-3.

Sedgman Saves Day

It wasn't fatal, for Frank Sedgman, the Aussies' slugging young champion, squelched Torsten Johansson, the Swedes' No. 2, by 6-4, 7-5, 6-3, in the fifth and clinching argument. But it must have supplied the tip-off to Hopman that Bromwich was overloaded.

Hopman has no guarantee that McGregor will do any better than Bromwich—if as good—in the event he nominates him for the challenge round singles. Yet, by saving Bromwich for the doubles, he can be pretty certain of winning that big point, and can hope that Sedgman will win both his singles.

However, all in all, it would appear at this stage as though the U. S. can call upon Ted Schroeder and anyone of three or four other top singles players and successfully defend the big cup.

The Aussies, in short, were far from impressive the past three days. They won, but their weaknesses were put on display for all to see.

27.90 seconds.

Second Round

1. Everett Custer, Roanoke, Va. 2. Dickie Adams, Atlanta, Ga. 3. James Dutcher, Hudson, N. Y. Time 27.76 seconds

Four-horned sheep are found on the Isle of Man.

Ez Charles 1-5 Over Beshore

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—When Ezard Charles defends his N.B.A. heavyweight title against Freddie Beshore tomorrow night the shadow of Joe Louis will be over the ring.

The Negro champion from Cincinnati has everything to lose and little to gain by a victory over the blond Harrisburg, Pa., challenger. Upon the outcome depends a $500,000 September Louisville bout.

Charles enters the ring a 1-5 favorite over the comparatively unknown Beshore, but he can't take any chances.

He doesn't intend to, either. The champion is fully aware that the boxing world will be interested in the effect of his long injury-imposed lay-off. He also realizes Beshore has made the most of the long wait for the twice-postponed fight and kept in trim.

"I'm not taking him (Beshore) cheap as long as he's been in training," said Charles.

Vern Bickford, Boston Braves pitcher, breaks out into a big smile in Braves Field dressing room after pitching a no-hit shut-out against the Brooklyn Dodgers. Braves won, 7-0, in the first no-run, no-hit game in majors since September 9, 1948. (AP Wirephoto)

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TJANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Thirteen years is a long time between drinks, let alone a National League pennant. But we hear distinct rumblings from New York Giant hopefuls these days. They won't come right out in the open and predict the 1950 flag for Durocher's Dandies but, inside their chests burns the flame and hope that can be found only in a Giant fan.

This currently sizzling streak has brought these fans out of the woods. They are willing to stand up and be counted, although they have been suffering in silence since 1937, the year Chilly Willy Terry led them to their National League pennant.

Nothing is more inspiring to a baseball man than a huddle of Giant rooters. They scheme and dream, commiserate, hope and pray. They hate the Dodgers, they hate the Yankees.

The Giant fan is a strange creature. He is loyal to the bitter end and most of the past 13 years he has spent dreaming of former glories of the Giants that John McGraw made famous.

They Had Their Share of Greats:

He has much to dream about . . . McGraw, Christy Mathewson, the "Big Six," Bill Terry, Fanchio Snyder, Frankie Frisch, Eusebio, Carl Hubbell, Eddie Roush, Helene Groh, Joe Moore, Hank Danning, Casey Stengel, Larry Doyle, Dick Bartoli, Travis Jackson, Freddie Fitzsimmons and a host of other immortals.

He will remind you with great pride that the Giants won 15 National League pennants, under McGraw in 1904-05, 1911-12-13, 1917, 1921-22-23-24. Then came Terry in 1933, 1936-37. But he is reticent about the Giants' world series record. You see, they won only four times in 13 starts.

He will point out that Larry Doyle was a National League batting champion with .320 in 1915 and Bill Terry was the last National League to bat .400 or more with .401 in 1930. If he insists that Terry was the greatest holding first sacker of all time, don't argue with him. He could be right.

With justifiable pride, he boasts Mel Ott, John McGraw's boy, who is the all-time National League home run leader with 511 homers, and Frankie Frisch, the Fordham Flash, who got his start under Old Muggsy and went on to finish his career with 2,880 hits to rank among the immortals. And Ott wound up with 2,876 and Terry with 2,193.

Mathewson, the "Big Six":

And maybe you've forgotten, but the Giants had a few pitching greats in their day, too. Christy Mathewson who finished his career with 373 wins and 189 losses, pitched three shutouts in the 1905 World Series against the Philadelphia Athletics. There were others: Carl Hubbell (253-154) winner of 24 straight N.L. games over a span of two seasons. And isn't he the guy who fanned in succession the following in an All-Star game: Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Jimmy Foss, Al Simmons and Joe Cronin, five of the mightiest hitters in American League history? How about Freddie Fitzsimmons (217-140), Iron Man Joe McGlinchey (247-142) and ancient Tim Keefe (240-226)?

He can't for his life explain how the Giants lost the pennant the year they set the all-time record of 221 homers in one season. Or why they let the Dodgers cuff them around like poor relations for several years. Or why Carl Hubbell, even at his peak, couldn't beat the Burns from across the bridge.

But he can tell you that the 1930 Giants hold the National League team batting record of .319 and they have led the loop in homers 23 times since 1900.

About Durocher . . . Well ???

He is always stirred by the memory of Blondy Ryan's famous telegram to Bill Terry: "Any on my way. We can't lose now!" And they didn't. Memories of Casey Stengel beating the Yankees almost single-handed in the 1923 World Series. Of Johnny Vrege, Buck Herzog, Hal Schumacher, Lefty Bill Walker, Hughie Citta, Long George Kelly, Gus Mancuso, Dolf Luque.

He has never fully made up his mind about Leo Durocher and it causes him great social embarrassment. But if Leo the Lip should perform the miracle and win the 1950 pennant, wouldn't he be the dandiest little manager ever?

Shandaken Routs Merchants, 13-3

Rybinaker Yields Five Hits, Fans 11

"Let" Grant's Shandaken nine routed the Colonial Merchants of the City League, 13 to 3, behind the five-hit pitching of Bob Rybinaker, Sunday on the mountain town diamond.

Rybinaker fanned 11 batters and furnished a couple of baseknocks in the cleanup slot. "Ping" Beaumont had another big RBI day, chasing five runs across with a triple and single.

Mike Rienzo, the strong-armed shortstop, tried his hand at pitching and retired after yielding five hits and six runs in four innings. Fondino relieved and Shandaken picked up nine hits off the combined deliveries of the pair.

Ernie Gosso was the individual batting star for the winners, with a single, double and triple and two runs batted in. Bud Schofield led the Merchants with two singles.

The boxscore:

Col. Merchants (8)		AB R H E

Harbert-Ransom In Tie With 281

Chicago, Aug. 14 (AP)—Chick Harbert and Hank Ransom match skill in a golf playoff today for about $83 per shot.

Tam O'Shanter "world championship" is at stake—a title strictly incidental to the $11,000 first prize, highest in golf history, and $5,000 for second.

The difference between the awards is $6,000, and a calculating machine will show you that the boys will be shooting at $83.33 per shot on a par 72 route. The playoff is 18 holes.

Usually in a playoff there is a gentlemen's agreement between those involved to split the purse. The amount this time is too big to reach such an understanding. Even the $6,000 difference represents more than the winner's jackpot offered in any other tournament.

Harbert, 35, hard-hitting Detroit, has been hot and cold of recent years. Yesterday, while some 20,000 customers flocked to the scene, he closed with a fabulous 34-34—68 to tie Ransom at 281, seven under par. Harbert has won $3,398 in golf meets this season.

Ransom, a 39-year-old Dallas, Texan, is a study in consistency. In 21 tournaments this season he has averaged under 71 strokes per round—and still hasn't won a title. But he has pocketed $7,865.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Thirteen years is a long time between drinks, let alone a National League pennant. But we hear distinct rumblings from New York Giant hopefuls these days. They won't come right out in the open and predict the 1950 flag for Durocher's Dandies but, inside their chests burns the flame and hope that can be found only in a Giant fan.

This currently sizzling streak has brought these fans out of the woods. They are willing to stand up and be counted, although they have been suffering in silence since 1937, the year Chilly Willy Terry led them to their National League pennant.

Nothing is more inspiring to a baseball man than a huddle of Giant rooters. They scheme and dream, commiserate, hope and pray. They hate the Dodgers, they hate the Yankees.

The Giant fan is a strange creature. He is loyal to the bitter end and most of the past 13 years he has spent dreaming of former glories of the Giants that John McGraw made famous.

They Had Their Share of Greats:

He has much to dream about . . . McGraw, Christy Mathewson, the "Big Six," Bill Terry, Pancho Snyder, Frankie Frisch, Ross Youngs, Carl Hubbell, Eddie Hahn, Heinie Groh, Joe Moore, Hank Danning, Casey Stengel, Larry Doyle, Dick Bartell, Travis Jackson, Freddie Fitzsimmons and host of other immortals.

He will remind you with great pride that the Giants won 13 National League pennants, under McGraw in 1904-05, 1911-12-13, 1917, 1921-22-23-24. Then came Terry in 1935, 1936-37. But he is reticent about the Giants' world series record. You see, they won only four times in 18 starts.

He will point out that Larry Doyle was a National League batting champion with .320 in 1915 and Bill Terry was the last National Leaguer to bat .400 or more with .401 in 1930. If he insists that Terry was the greatest fielding first sacker of all time, don't argue with him. He could be right.

With justifiable pride, he boasts Mel Ott, John McGraw's boy, who is the all-time National League home run leader with 511 homers. And Frankie Frisch, the Fordham Flash, who got his start under Old Muggsy and went on to finish his career with 2,880 hits to rank among the immortals. And Ott wound up with 2,876 and Terry with 2,193.

Mathewson, the "Big Six":

And maybe you've forgotten, but the Giants had a few pitching greats in their day, too. Christy Mathewson who finished his career with 373 wins and 189 losses, pitched three shutouts in the 1905 World Series against the Philadelphia Athletics. There were others: Carl Hubbell (253-154) winner of 24 straight N.L. games over a span of two seasons. And isn't he the guy who fanned in succession the following in an All-Star game: Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Jimmy Foss, Al Simmons and Joe Cronin, five of the mightiest hitters in American League history? How about Freddie Fitzsimmons (217-146), Iron Man Joe McGinnity (247-142) and ancient Tim Lincecum (240-235)?

He can't for his life explain how the Giants lost the pennant the year they set the all-time record of 221 homers in one season. Or why they let the Dodgers cuff them around like poor relations for several years. Or why Carl Hubbell, even at his peak, couldn't beat the Burns from across the bidge.

But he can tell you that the 1930 Giants held the National League team batting record of .319 and they have led the loop in homers 23 times since 1900.

About Durocher . . . Well???

He is always stirred by the memory of Blondy Ryan's famous telegram to Bill Terry: "Am on my way. We can't lose now!" And they didn't. Memories of Casey Stengel beating the Yankees almost single-handed in the 1952 World Series. Of Johnny Vengas, Buck Herzog, Hal Schumacher, Lefty Bill Walker, Hughie Critt, Long George Kelly, Gus Mancuso, Dolf Luque.

He has never fully made up his mind about Leo Durocher and it causes him great social embarrassment. But if Leo the Lip should perform the miracle and win the 1950 pennant, wouldn't he be the dandiest little manager ever?

Rybinaker Yields Five Hits, Fans 11

"Let" Grant's Shandaken nine routed the Colonial Merchants of the City League, 13 to 3, behind the five-hit pitching of Bob Rybinaker, Sunday on the mountain town diamond.

Rybinaker fanned 11 batters and furnished a couple of base knocks in the cleanup slot. "Fino," Beaumont had another big RBI day, chasing five runs across with a triple and single.

Mike Rienzo, the strong-armed shortstop, tried his hand at pitching and retired after yielding five hits and six runs in four innings. Fondino relieved and Shandaken picked up nine hits off the combined deliveries of the pair.

Ernie Rienzo was the individual batting star for the winners, with a single, double and triple and two runs batted in. Bud Scheffel led the Merchants with two singles.

A "BENCH" becomes a BANK!

IN THE GREEK AND ROMAN TEMPLES IT WAS THE CUSTOM OF THE MONEY-CHANGERS TO TRANSACT THEIR BUSINESS UPON A BENCH, WHICH IN LATIN IS "BANCUS". THIS IS THE ORIGIN OF THE WORD "BANK".

Down thru the history of the world, the people who learned the value of money and the necessity of thrift, were the people who made a success of life and generated the growth of their community. The dollars you save are the backbone of your very existence. Success and thrift go hand in hand.

New York, Aug. 14 (AP)—The Voice of America has begun speaking in its 25th foreign language in a new series of broadcasts aimed to the Associated States of Indo-China.

It was led off yesterday by a personal message from President Truman in English, followed immediately by its translation into the Vietnamese language.

The President, in his recorded message, said U. S. help for Indo-China is designed to stimulate conditions under which the people of Indo-China may develop institutions compatible with their religion and culture which will best serve the interests of the people.

Want Parliament Early

London, Aug. 14 (AP)—Leaders of Britain's Conservative and Liberal parties have asked Prime Minister Attlee to recall Parliament from its summer recess earlier than the Sept. 12 date set by him. Conservative Leader Winston Churchill declared Sept. 12 "is altogether too remote and bears no relation to the crisis and the new facts before us." Liberal Leader Clement Davies suggested that Parliament be recalled this week.

Albany Boy Shot

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—A 15-year-old boy was shot in the back when a gun went off accidentally. The shooting victim was Robert Favreau of Cadville. Deputy Sheriff Ernest Forney of Clinton county said the trigger of the 12-gauge shot gun apparently caught on a bush as a companion handed the gun to Favreau yesterday. The second boy had held the gun while Favreau climbed a fence.
